Applicants must demonstrate that they care for and have custody of the humanities collections that are the focus of the application, have at least one staff member or the full-time equivalent (paid or unpaid) and make their collections open and available for the purpose of education, research and/or public programming.

On the private level...

Alex's Lemonade Stand

Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation (ALSF) evolved from the front yard lemonade stand of cancer patient Alexandra "Alex" Scott (1996-2004) into a national fundraising movement to raise awareness and find cures for all childhood cancers. Their mission is to raise money and awareness of childhood cancer causes, primarily for research into new treatments and cures, and to encourage and empower others, especially children, to get involved and make a difference for children with cancer. They are seeking applications for the 'A' Award program, the goals of which are to encourage the best and brightest early career independent researchers to build lifelong careers and become leaders in the field of pediatric cancer research and to advance research that will lead to new treatments and cures impacting children with cancer. This funding is for a four- to five-year program.

- Eligibility: Funds will be granted to nonprofit institutions or organizations operating in the United States or Canada. Primary applicants must have an M.D., Ph.D. or dual M.D., Ph.D. (D.O., MBBS or equivalent) and be within five years of their first faculty appointment as an assistant professor. Associate and full professors are ineligible. If still at the instructor level, the applicant must have a commitment from the department chair/division chief at the time of grant submission for an assistant professor position within one year of receiving the award. A minimum of 75 percent of the applicant's time during the 'A' Award period must be allocated as protected time for all research activities. This percentage of time includes both 'A' activities and the applicant's other research responsibilities. Applicants may have research grants from other funding sources during the 'A' Award period, but there must be clear documentation of mechanisms to avoid scientific and budgetary overlap. Investigators cannot have an R01 that has been funded, or recommended for funding (i.e. will be funded), at the time they apply.
- Funding: Initial awards are for $800,000 over four years (no more than $200,000 in any given year).
- Deadline: May 22, 2017, 11:59 p.m.
