

Dear Friends,

I recently had the pleasure to honor local residents during our annual Black History month celebration. February has long been a month to remember and celebrate trailblazers and those that are presently fighting for equity and opportunities in our communities.

As always, my dedicated staff and I are here to service the needs of the residents of Claremont, Concourse, Highbridge, Mount Eden and Morris Heights communities of The Bronx.

The New York State Legislature is still in session and I am working diligently and fighting in Albany every week to expand access to affordable housing, protect the most vulnerable in our community, ensure access to quality education and health care, and address quality of life concerns.

Please look out for the many events and resources hosted by my office for the enrichment and progress of our community!

Sincerely,

Hon. Latoya Joyner

Member of Assembly

★ ★ ★ Shaquille Bent ★ ★ ★

Shaquille Bent holds a Bachelor’s of Science in Industrial Technology and currently serves as a Portfolio Management Analyst. He founded a non-profit called “Pass it Down, NYC” an organization that teaches financial literacy.

Shaquille and two of his closest friends realized that there was a trend occurring in the community regarding the deprivation of financial education being taught in school, which in turn would impact one’s ability to make intelligent financial decisions. He and his team host financial literacy classes based on their own experiences, knowledge and research. He decided to focus on the basics of financial literacy and he teaches things like, banking, budgeting, credit, investing, insurance and home ownership.

Shaquille’s efforts have been focused in the Highbridge community where he lives and he has had the opportunity to give his presentation at several local churches. The first partnership was with D3 Ministries, where he was able to host multiple successful workshops and interact with the community.

Shaquille also partnered with our office to host a Financial Literacy workshop that taught constituents of the 77th Assembly District the ins and outs of credit, credit cards and credit scores. In the foreseeable future, he hopes to expand his reach and partner with local schools and host workshops for students.

Ultimately, Shaquille aspires to own multiple businesses in order to affect positive change in the world on a grand scale.

Celebrating African Culture

West African Cultural Celebration

BRONX , N.Y. - Assemblywoman Latoya Joyner partnered with the Gambian American Network to celebrate African heritage with poetry, music, dance, food and ancient African Fables at the Latino Pastoral Action Center (LPAC).

The event featured a poetic performance by Mama Rashida and included an inspirational story about her life. Mama Rashida used her life as an example to highlight the importance of resilience and the strength we can draw from our ancestors. She emphasized how important it is to remember our past and heritage in order to secure our future.

Performer Salieu Suso and the African Story Project performed and told ancient West African tales accompanied by the music of West African musicians to bring life to the tale. During their individual performances the musicians told the long history of their instruments and how the instruments are the ancestors of our modern day instruments like the piano, drums, and guitar.

The musicians also played an ancient song to honor Assemblywoman Joyner before she walked up to speak. The song paid homage to the Assemblywoman's ancestors and parents, as is customary.

Assemblywoman Joyner Advocating in Albany

Language Access in the Courts:

“We All Speak Justice Here!”

BRONX, N.Y. - Assemblywoman Latoya Joyner led a panel of court experts to discuss the important and growing issue of language access within our court system during the annual New York State Association of Black and Puerto Rican Legislator weekend conference.

The panel detailed the language interpretation issues that tenants face on top of the stresses of eviction, parents struggling through Family Court proceedings, and defendants in criminal cases. Not to mention the issues that are created when interpreters do not accurately translate the complex legal jargon into the persons native tongue. Last year alone, court interpreters handled more than 14,000 hearings in 100 different languages.

“The growing linguistic diversity of our state challenges the court system and the advocates working to improve access to justice for all New Yorkers. Justice is meant to be universal and so should language interpretation services,” said Assemblywoman Joyner.

Advocating for Comprehensive Gun Laws

In light of all the mass shootings and, most recently, the tragic shooting at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland, Florida, Assemblywoman Latoya Joyner joined with her colleagues to advocate for legislation to reduce gun violence in New York.

New York has historically been very progressive on gun control issues and a national leader in implementing comprehensive gun laws to curb the growing issue of gun violence. Data shows that States with strict gun regulations experience less gun-related violence than those that do not. This has led the NYS Assembly to present a package of bills to put New York one step closer to ensuring that all lives are kept safe from senseless acts of violence.

The bills include:

- 1) Banning “bump stocks” devices which allows semi-automatic rifles to function like fully automatic rifles (A8913) as well as increased regulation on the owning and sales of devices that increase the rate of fire (A8717).
- 2) Improving background checks by increasing the time from three days to ten days, requiring gun distributor employees to conduct background checks that are authorized to possess and transfer firearms, and mandating licensed firearm business to report attempts made by prohibited individuals to purchase firearms (A9068).
- 3) Prohibiting the sale of firearms to anyone who commits a hate crime (A7547) and establishing a new court-issued order of protection that will prohibit anyone deemed a risk to themselves or others from purchasing or possessing a firearm (A8976).
- 4) The “Domestic Violence Escalation Prevention Act” which prohibits those convicted of certain offenses against members of the same family or household from purchasing or possessing guns (A5025).

M.S. 325 - Urban School Academy

Assemblywoman Joyner Stands with Families on M.S. 325

BRONX, N.Y. - Assemblywoman Latoya Joyner was in support of parents, students, school staff, teachers and other elected officials to prevent the closure of M.S. 325. In a tight decision of 7 votes Yes and 6 votes No, the NYC Department of Education decided to close M.S. 325 - Urban School Academy. The decision comes less than a year after the closure of J.H.S 145, which is on the same school campus.

Initially, there was much skepticism about the Renewal School initiative that M.S. 325 was and now these same schools – in a program meant to help and support growth for the community – are the first one to be uprooted and a closed.

During another hearing regarding the proposed school closures (pictured left), Assemblywoman Latoya Joyner argued that, “With continued support and better investment from the Department of Education, this school can close the achievement gap and raise test scores. Believe in our students the way our parents believe in our students.”

A second closure would have a substantial negative impact upon the educational experience of the students and reduce their overall quality of life. In addition, there has been a growing trend of charter schools occupying spaces within public schools. This decision does not seem to represent the best interests of these Bronx children and their families.

“Consecutive school closures would leave the district with the stigma of failure. Having gone through this process before, I know uprooting these families have significant affects on their wellbeing,” said Assemblywoman Joyner.
