2020: A Year In Review

Women on Corporate Boards Bill Signed

Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright's legislation, Assembly Bill 6330 was signed by the Governor creating a study of women on corporate boards. In 2020, domestic and foreign corporations doing business in New York will report on gender diversity and their governing boards. These boards function as the highest governing body within a corporation or publicly traded firm, responsible for setting company-wide economic, regulatory, market, and ethical policies.

"New York State is one of the largest economies in the world and as such, sets a global example for corporate responsibility," said Assembly Member Seawright. "In a proactive approach, corporations will identify where they lack in diversity. Now, thanks to Governor Cuomo's support, New York is taking a major step forward to ensure that women have a voice in the discussions and decisions."

Seawright Supports Small Immigrant Business Owners

Seawright Stands with UES Immigrant Business Owners

Recognizing that luxury developers' work can harm the established community's well-being, Assemblymember Rebecca Seawright prioritized protecting the neighborhood's established businesses from the excesses that have come from the new real estate.

"Small businesses are an integral part of the fabric of our community," said Seawright. "We deeply value the many entrepreneurial immigrants who contribute significantly to the luster and character that makes our communities vibrant and interesting. Developers must understand that our hardworking shopkeepers and their employees seek to be treated fairly and with the respect they deserve."

Equal Rights Amendment Passes Assembly

Seawright's Equal Rights Amendment, A271 passed Assembly.

Seawright said "I'm committed to an Equal Rights Amendment with language that is more inclusive. I will continue to work diligently with my colleagues in the Assembly and the Senate to pass ERA legislation in 2020."

Eliminating Duplicative Electronic Filing

Assembly Member Rebecca A. Seawright announced that Assembly Bill 9001 was signed by the Governor allowing candidates to satisfy both local and state requirements when running for NYC office by filing with just one entity: The New York City Campaign Finance Board. The bill passed both houses with overwhelming support.

Assembly Member Seawright said, "It is a waste of time, effort and resources to require candidates for public office to file twice, with both the local agency and the State. Let's stop discouraging candidates from running for office by putting them through two sets of hoops. Twice the filing is one time too many. Once is enough."

Teach LGBT NY Curriculum Bill

Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright, David Kilmnick, President/CEO of the LGBT Network along with New York State Senator Brad Hoylman, Assembly and Senate colleagues held a press conference in Albany to call for the immediate passage of bill A4744/S1478 that would require all New York State schools to have LGBT history in its curriculum.

"It is important for our students in New York to receive the most comprehensive education possible, that is why I am proud to be the sponsor of the Teach LGBT NY bill. The statistic that less than 20% of LGBTQ students have been taught positive representation about LGBTQ people and history is unacceptable. It is vitally important to teach about the LGBTQ community and history to promote tolerance and acceptance. Students will see the varied contributions of LGBTQ individuals to American History and have the comfort in knowing that they belong in our schools and our communities." said Assembly Member Seawright.

Flowers were handed out by firefighters to help the mothers who will be away from their families this holiday to celebrate the special day.

Passing COVID-19 Emergency Protections for Tenant's, Nursing Home Residents, and Consumers

Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright votes to pass COVID-19 emergency legislation including vital protections for tenants, nursing home residents, and consumers.

"I'm proud to have cosponsored these and other measures approved by the state Assembly and Senate," said Assembly Member Seawright. "The Legislature is moving swiftly to respond to this unprecedented health crisis, and more legislative action is imminent. Everything is on the table in the era of Covid-19."

Passing Police Reforms

I walked side by side with neighbors and joined a vigil in Carl Schurz Park to show solidarity and support to those who have died as a result of police brutality and racism. We continued our work in Albany this week on what is being called the "Say Their Name" police reform package.

Assembly Member Seawright voted to pass a comprehensive package of criminal justice reforms riding on the wave of outrage following the death of George Floyd at the hands of police. As a cosponsor of the reforms, Seawright noted that actions approved repealed 50-a, which seals the disciplinary records of police officers. The package also banned police chokeholds, criminalized false race-based calls to 911, and enshrined into law the designation of the New York State Attorney General as the special prosecutor in cases where police are accused of crimes.

"We have all heard the call of the peaceful protestors. We must all stand for genuine criminal justice reform and against bigotry and discrimination," Assembly Member Seawright said.

Funding Food and Shelter for Animals

Animal rights activists led by New York State Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright joined together to fight the chronic food shortages at animal shelters and announced a $1 million national funding effort to feed animals in critical need. Shelters and animal nonprofits have struggled to keep doors open as contributions have slowed amid widespread unemployment in New York and across the nation.

Southpoint Park

Seawright joined a Southpoint Park Project walkthrough to encourage resident feedback.

SEAWRIGHT'S VIRTUAL TOWN HALL TUESDAY ON COMBATING ANTI-SEMITISM

Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright hosted her second annual discussion with leaders in New York State on how to address the alarming rise in cases of Anti-Semitism and hate crimes. The distinguished panel included JCRC-NY President Cheryl Fishbein, Executive Director of the NY Board of Rabbi's, Rabbi Joseph Potasnik, Jewish Insider's Managing Editor and former Campus Director for the Simon Wiesenthal Center Melissa Weiss, and David Pollock and Mitchell D. Silber from the Community Security Initiative of the JCRC-NY. The Virtual Town Hall was Assembly Member Seawright's eighteenth consecutive town hall live streamed on Facebook. Faith-based and Community Leaders Decry Anti-Semitic Attack and Vandalism on the District Office of Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright Faith-based and Community leaders expressed outrage over vandalism and a hate crime attack at the Manhattan district office of Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright. A handwritten note left behind contained anti-Semitic and obscene language directed against the Assemblymember.

This cowardly act is antithetical to New York's values.

New York has zero tolerance for hate and we will do everything in our power to hold those responsible accountable.

I extend my sympathy to @SeawrightForNY that this repugnant note was left at her office.

106-Year-Old "Daughter of the Suffragette Movement" Leads Rally for Passage of New York State Equal Rights Amendment on 100th Anniversary of Women's Suffrage

On the 100th anniversary of a women's right to vote, Dr. Shirley Zussman, a 106-year-old daughter of the Suffragette Movement, recalled growing up in a family where political conversations were the norm.

A century later, Shirley is still fighting for equal rights for women and rallied with Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright on Wednesday for the passage of the New York State Equal Rights Amendment which would enshrine equal rights for women into the State Constitution.

"As we remember the brave women of a century ago who fought for equal representation and the fundamental franchise, we must recommit ourselves to the struggle to ensure opportunity and equality for all women at every level," said the Assembly Member.

Seawright Seeks Tougher Hate Crime Laws, Anti-Hate Training

Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright is calling for stricter state hate crime laws that would enhance prosecutions and require judges to order special "anti-hate" training for every person convicted of a hate crime.

The Seawright proposal would plug a loophole in the current law and would make "anti-hate" counseling mandatory.

"Education is one important key to tolerance and respect for others and is essential to keeping the community safe from hateful acts and violence," said Seawright. "The state should require the completion of a program, training session, or counseling developed or authorized by the court or local agencies in cooperation with organizations serving the affected community."

Remembering Ruth

"As we mourn the passing of United States Supreme Court Associate Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg, let us each reflect on how her pursuit of justice, equality and the liberation of our human rights touched us so deeply.

I remember seeing her on the bench when I was sworn in to practice before the Supreme Court. I could not take my eyes away from such a fearless warrior, a courageous trailblazer, unafraid to stand up for all of us."

Seawright Secures Additional Poll Site At Marymount College for Early Voting

Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright secured Marymount Manhattan College as an alternate early voting pollsite for Saturday, October 31 and Sunday, November 1, according to an agreement she successfully obtained from the New York City Board of Elections.

Assembly Member Seawright had previously announced her intention to pursue legal action in the event that the New York City Board of Elections did not address what she described as "the horrendous treatment of the disabled, senior citizens, and working men and women-- voters who have stood in line for several hours to cast their ballots, including in the rain. The voters of the Upper East Side, Yorkville, and Roosevelt Island are grateful to Marymount Manhattan College for stepping up in this time of crisis. We simply cannot tolerate voter suppression of any kind and this action is exactly what is needed."

Seawright Presents $500,000 Grant to PS 290

Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright presented a New York State Assembly grant in the amount of $500,000 for technology upgrades and renovations. Working with Principal Doreen Esposito, Seawright allocated funding for the needs of the Manhattan New School to have new technology, bottle filling stations, and bathroom renovations.

In the age of COVID19, it is critically important that all students have access to laptops to strengthen their communications skills, research, self-direction, and problemsolving skills to work independently. "As a proud public school parent and former PTA activist, I understand the importance of funding for the classroom. Our students deserve to have the technology and resources to have the opportunity to learn, especially at a time when some students are learning remotely," said Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright. The grant will also provide for the installation of additional smart boards in classrooms.

A Historic Victory

Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright clinched a historic victory as the first candidate ever to win re-election to the State legislature on an independent party ballot line, representing the Upper East Side, Yorkville, and Roosevelt Island. With all precincts reporting and all absentee ballots counted, Seawright carried nearly 60 percent of the votes in the 76th Assembly District.

Blackwell House Ribbon Cutting

We cut the ribbon on the historic Roosevelt Island Blackwell House. "We are proud to have the Blackwell House, one of the few farmhouses in New York dating from the years immediately after the Revolutionary War, in our district on Roosevelt Island. I commend the Roosevelt Island Historical Society and Judy Berdy for her diligent work to preserve and educate on the history of Roosevelt Island and New York City. This ribbon cutting was possible due to her dedication to Roosevelt Island and its history.

Urban Outreach Center Ribbon Cutting

Beverly Dempsey, Urban Outreach Center Executive Director the Rev. Jordan Tarwater, and ETHOS taskforce members including Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright, Council Member Ben Kallos and Senator Liz Krueger.

Assembly Member Seawright Distributed 7,000 N95 Masks to "High-Risk" Nursing Home Residents and Healthcare Workers

With the long-awaited COVID-19 vaccination program advancing, Assembly Member Rebecca Seawright led a new distribution of 7,000 specialized masks to protect high-risk nursing home residents and healthcare workers.

The specialized N95 masks went to skilled care and medical centers serving residents and patients at Mary Manning Walsh/ Archcare Nursing Home, Lenox Hill Hospital-Northwell Health, and Memorial Sloan Kettering Medical Center on the Upper East Side, Yorkville, and Roosevelt Island.

The Doe Fund's nationally recognized program to help formerly incarcerated and homeless men return to the workforce also received 1,000 masks.

"I wish to thank Protective Health Gear Chief Executive Officer Brian Wolin and Chief Operating Office Evan Schulman for this generous donation," said Seawright. "With the vaccination program moving forward, we can finally see a pathway to ending this pandemic, but today's distribution of N95 masks is a reminder we are entering a critical phase in the fight. We must maintain our focus and our efforts to contain the spread."
