High-speed internet is a modern necessity!

In a post-COVID world, our economy, health care, education and quality of life are more dependent on reliable broadband infrastructure than ever before. Residents should not struggle to gain essential access to reliable internet service!

I have a plan that will help improve internet speed and options:

- Authorized municipalities to issue and sell bonds to provide funds for the construction of broadband and telecommunications infrastructure.¹
- Implement the “Regional Broadband Expansion and Access Program Act”²
- Create a public-private partnership: Telecommunication providers are discouraged from making large investments because they don’t see a return that will justify such an effort. We need a public-private partnership with the cellular industry to address coverage gaps.
